

PLAN CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL FOR DC

Council Discusses Water Rate Hike

Plans for a convalescent hospital to be built near the site of the proposed Mary's Help Hospital were unveiled Monday night, May 28 at the city council chambers.

Harold E. Garner, representing the Johnson and Mape Construction Company of Menlo Park asked the city council to consider acceptance of the hospital, which he said would serve a useful purpose next to a large general hospital.

The company is presently buying land directly across San Pedro street from the PG&E yard across from the Lutheran Church, Garner said and would like to begin construction "immediately."

A convalescent hospital is for patients in need of nursing care, not acute cases. Garner added that the construction company would try to get a site as level as possible for the accommodation of elderly wheelchair cases.

Garner said the hospital land would be partly in San Mateo County and partly in the city of Daly City and when all the land is purchased, he would petition to include the hospital lands within the city.

Anti Tot Lot

Councilman Robert St. Clair said the council should "file in the waste paper basket" a letter from parents protesting the proposed "Tot Lot" playground site in Westlake Terrace. St. Clair said the majority of residents in the area designated they wanted the playground and the area is considered safe. There are no excessive slopes, he said. The letter was referred to the recreation commission.

Water Rates

The council completed the first reading of the ordinance establishing water rates, but not without another protest from George Kirchhubel. In the reading of the ordinance city attorney Paul Hupf said that the proposed "low" rate hike of 75 cents per month would insure proper reserves for human consumption and fire prevention.

The hike, the first major increase since 1913, is scheduled to go into effect the first of August. Councilman Robert St. Clair said with the proposed hike, small consumers would experience a 66 per cent rate hike, while larger consumers would actually have a decrease in water costs. City engineer William Chapman said that with the present water rate, the small user is not paying enough to maintain the use of the system. "It's too low to maintain an adequate system for domestic supply and fire supply. The fire supply is dangerously inadequate," Chapman said. He pointed out that the main reason for the hike is because the 1959 Washington Associates engineering survey of the Daly City water depart-

Libel Suit Is Filed By Aide Of Joe Verducci

The secretary of Daly City Mayor Joe Verducci in his position as dean of men at San Francisco State College has filed a $400,000 libel suit in superior court in Redwood City against defeated candidate Fred J. Walker, news service editor of 255 Palisades drive, Daly City, and H. W. Dickow, 186 Avalon drive, Daly City.

Mrs. Nina J. Brown, 127 Wilshire avenue, Daly City, names Walker, individually and doing business as the Citizens Committee for Good Government. It also names a publication known as the Citizens Defender, put out by Walker during the election campaign.

Mrs. Brown alleges in the suit that on March 24 there was published in the Citizens Defender an article stating that she was on the payroll of a member of the Daly City council, asserting that she "obtained employment as a political favor using such employment to further her husband's career."

Mrs. Brown is the wife of Leonard J. Brown, a mechanical engineer.

ARTISTS DRAWING shows the completed hall of justice (No. 1) as part of an integrated county civic center. Designed to allow for expansion, the building is now "L" shaped and allows parking on that portion of the property where additional court facilities are planned. New office building (No. 2) is now under construction. To accommodate autos—and to save space—a multi-story parking facility (No. 3) is planned for future but is not included in Proposition "A."

Other buildings are part of long-range plans for eventual consolidation of county's far-flung offices into the civic center. Plan will provide best arrangement for public service and efficiency of operation.

June Primaries Dominate County Political Scene

The June primaries dominate the political scene in the North County next week.

On Tuesday, June 5, Democrats and Republicans will march to the polls to choose their party representatives for the November finals.

One of the hottest political battles in the state is expected to take place in San Mateo county's 27th assembly district.

Legislation "Hurts" Disturbed Children

Dr. Vinton Stratton, director of curriculum for the Jefferson school district, spoke out on Wednesday night, May 23, against the Garregus Bill, which he said hampers district efforts to improve education.

Talking at a study session of the newly formed Daly City Youth Commission, Dr. Stratton said the bill, passed by the last state legislature, literally hamstringing this district's efforts to add new "resource" people to the staff, including librarians, psychologists, etc.

The bill spells out the fact that 60 per cent of the school operating budget must be in the first six budget categories. Teachers are in the first six categories but resource personnel are not.

The elementary school district has three clinical psychologists and two counselors. The high school district has one psychologist.

Many times, Stratton said, high school principals will be desperately in need of a counselor or psychologist for a child and can't find one.

"We desperately need coun-sors," Stratton said. "We have emotionally disturbed children, but when we try to do anything about it our hands are tied."

Stratton called the Garregus Bill the most "stupid thing I've ever seen." He said the reason why school administrators are often pessimistic is because they are "ramming their heads against a wall."

Fifteen per cent of the San Mateo county school children are listed as emotionally disturbed, Stratton said.

Present at the study session were Pat Hiram, probation officer for San Mateo county; Edward Morgan, superintendent of the Jefferson High School district; Chuck Vincent, Daly City recreation department; the Rev. Clark Robb of the Ministerial Association of Daly City; Helen Staub, secretary of the Youth Committee; Mel Taylor, department store executive; Dr. Vinton Stratton, curriculum director of the Jefferson school district; Joseph Verducci, Daly City mayor, and council chairman Robert St. Clair, Daly City councilman.

The new re-aligned district, which encompasses Daly City, South San Francisco, Pacifica, San Bruno, Millbrae, Brisbane, Burlingame and part of San Mateo, replaces the old 25th district and is without an incumbent. Assemblyman Louis Francis, Republican incumbent, has decided not to run in the new district, leaving the door open for a new assemblyman.

The Democrats will have to choose between Leo J. Ryan, South San Francisco mayor, and San Bruno school teacher of 116 Escanero drive, South San Francisco, and William F. Gateley, attorney, or 1036 Murchinson drive, Millbrae, for their representative in the 27th district assemblyman race.

On the other side of the fence, Republican voters will decide between Raoul A. Vincillone of 2 El Campo drive, South San Francisco, and Andrew C. Byrd, 1308 Castillo avenue, Burlingame, for the Republican candidate.

In other political action, voters will choose four representatives to the county Republican Central Committee. North county candidates include Roberta Drye, 98 Montrose avenue, Daly City; Amos Bechtold, 716 Maddux drive, Colma; Thomas L. Bocci, 10 Village lane, Colma; and Robert E. Hunter, 127 Palisades drive, Daly City.

School District Must Borrow $600,000

The Jefferson high school trustees moved Monday night to borrow approximately $600,000 to meet the expenditures from July 1 to December 15.

The money will be raised through short term tax anticipation notes and will cost the district a "minimal" $2,000 in interest.

This is the first time in recent years that the Jefferson high school district's reserve has been unable to meet the projected expenses. The reserve, which has been criticized by many for being too large, now stands at $250,000. An anticipated $1,200,000 will be needed for expenses from July 1 to December 15. Income in that time is estimated at $360,000, leaving a 600,000 deficit.

The loan will be paid back in the latter part of December when the reserve receives its first installment of district taxes. However the payment will leave the reserve short next year, and probably precipitate another loan in 1963.

"This will probably go on for several years because rebuilding the reserve will be very difficult," said Edward Morgan, Superintendent of the expanding Jefferson High School district. "The money from the state doesn't cover all the supplies and equipment needed," Morgan added.

In other action the trustees approved salary raises for the maintenance, operation and cafeteria personnel, and reduced the working day in the clerical department.

The board, after viewing statistics indicating a three percent raise in cost of living, accepted the recommendation of the administration and granted a five percent increase to the workers.

A request for an additional five percent increase to assistant building and grounds supervisors and for the electrician was denied for the moment, with the board voting to study the request.

Overtime rates were also raised from $3.00 an hour to $4.00 per hour. A request giving top priority to seniority in the selection of employees for day or night shifts passed also. The overtime coupled with the raise will add an approximate $16,622 to the budget.

The cafeteria budget was increased approximately $1,150 when the trustees granted the cafeteria personnel a five percent increase in salary.

The clerical workers requested a workday reduction

BIG SEARCH AS GUNMAN FIRES AT DC COP

A gunman fired at a Daly City policeman and fled Sunday, May 27, as 30 lawmen carried on a futile pre-dawn hunt for him in the Crocker Estate hills.

The gunman fired a single shot at Patrolman Gordon Sims from a range of about 20 yards. The bullet missed. Sims, in turn, emptied his revolver at the fleeing figure. But his shots, apparently missed also.

Sims said he was patrolling near the dead-end of Peoria street about 3:45 a. m. when he spotted the man walking alone on the sidewalk. He stopped his car and got out, intending to question the man because of the early hour. The officer was about 150 feet away when, without warning, the man went for his pistol and fired.

Sims ran back to his patrol car and radioed for help. Within minutes, 30 officers, their memories sharpened by the fate of California Highway Patrolman Dale B. Krings, who was killed by a cop-hating rifleman last week at Hyatt House, were on the scene searching the heavily wooded area with drawn guns.

New Post Office Site Approved

The United States Post Office department announced yesterday from Washington the selection for the site of the new Daly City Post Office.

In a telegram to the Westlake Times, Senator Clair Engle, said that the site was approved for a 67,500 square foot postal installation for Daly City. The new post office, whose construction is expected to begin in the near future, is located on Sullivan street, between 88th and 89th street.

The new post office will serve as the main Daly City office and will also service Colma and the surrounding unincorporated areas.

The new mail center is expected to cost $250,000 and will be the fourth post office in the Daly City postal district.

Nancy Angelot Is The New Miss Daly City

NANCY ANGELOT,
Miss Daly City

Youthful, lovely, Nancy Angelot, 239 South Parkview, is the 1962 Miss Daly City. She was crowned Tuesday night at the Colonial Steak Pit following a Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce dinner.

Nancy, stunning in her formal dress, won from four other pretty finalists, including Claudia Smith, Mary Ann Welker, Sharon Shroder and Susan Thorne.

The comely Miss Daly City, who measures 35-22-35½, will represent Daly City at the San Mateo County Floral Fiesta this summer.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO—California gubernatorial candidate Richard Nixon urged South San Francisco High School students May 24 to obtain a broad education and take an active part in political affairs.

His speech climaxed a series of talks scheduled by the Political Action Club of the high school.

"Too often in America today," Nixon stated, "we try to train ourselves as specialists. If you have a choice, the best background is not in specific courses, but in getting the broadest background you can. Nixon discussed American goals and the difference between totalitarian and American goals and the difference between totalitarian and American government. He commented that:

Only A Technician

"In the Soviet Union, all a man like Titov needs is to be a technician. They consider it dangerous for a technician to know more.

"In the Soviet Union they train technicians, yet do not train them for responsibility in the Soviet society. They are denied that.

"Glenn and Carpenter show a greater interest in political affairs. They have a spiritual and moral background. They are men who will be able to show a leadership in America.

"Earning a living is a contribution to America, but in America we have a responsibility of citizenship — to do things in a voluntary, elective capacity.

"In college, I wondered why I had to spend so much time on literature, languages and philosophy. But these were the best courses, the most valuable I had.

"Only when you are younger do you have the flexibility to get the breadth and depth of knowledge.

"When you take these courses, they don't seem to be practical. But they are. They develop the complete person.

Astronaut Comparison

"Look at the backgrounds of Titov, Carpenter and Glenn and you can see the difference between totalitarian and free government.

"The greatness of America is not because we are a so-called master race. The greatness is when we are citizens we have an equal chance at the starting line.

Preserve Freedom

"I hope everyone in this high school takes part in political life.

"Let us never forget, in America the major strength we have is our voluntary contributions by individuals."

Nixon described his welcome into Warsaw:

"I got a chance to look into their faces. Almost half of them were crying. America to them stood for freedom. For spiritual and moral strength. In these facts, the Communists can't match us at all.

"This then is the strength of America I ask you to preserve."

from eight hours to seven and one-half, equal to a 6.3 percent salary increase, in lieu of a salary increase. The board adopted their request.

In an unprecedented move, the trustees agreed to temporarily deviate from the state rule of no transportation for children within the two mile area of the school, and give transportation to Oceana high school students.

The reason for this action is that highway one, the only thoroughfare past the school, has no sidewalks or crosswalks for the students. The board acted in the safety of the students but noted that the transportation is only temporary until the new freeway is complete, at which time they will revert back to the state rule.

Those areas effected are Pacific Manor and Westview. Brighton and Sharps Park are the only exceptions.

The board awarded the master plan for a fifth high school, to be located in the Crocker Estates, between Brisbane, Bayshore, and Daly City, to Mario J. Campi, architect.

Work won't commence on this project for three or four years, but the board hopes to have the site selected before the year is over.

Corwin Booth, representing Falk and Booth, architects, presented the revised master plan for Terra Nova High School to the board, and they accepted it under advisement. The new plan calls for an increase in accommodations from 950 students to 2000.

In addition to the Board's two regular monthly meetings, June 11 and 25, the board will convene in special budget sessions on June 4 and 18.

Another Mudslide Peril In Broadmoor

Mrs. James T. Katapodis, 12-27 Nimitz street, Broadmoor, said she may appeal to Governor Brown as a last resort to get aid in tapping a spring that has been loosening soil and threatening mud slides in her neighborhood.

The spring was unearthed last February in a mudslide that ripped away the front yard of one home and dumped tons of mud in the yard below, in a heavy rain. A soil expert, after inspecting the area, told Mrs. Katapodis that more heavy rain could possibly bring havoc to the area. She was told by the county engineer and deputy district attorney that the county was unable to take action in the matter, since the spring and mudslides were on private property.

Dancing Lessons For Pacifica And Westlake Kids

Dancing lessons are being offered to children of Pacifica and Westlake areas this summer. The Dick Ford Studios of "Hop-Skip and Dance" and the Pacifica Nursery School Inc. are scheduling lessons to begin Tuesday, June 26.

The lessons will be twice weekly for one month.

There will be classes in creative dance, where the child learns how to use his body, developing strength, grace and coordination as well as listening and responding to different rhythms.

This course is offered to girls and boys 3½ thru 5 years of age.

For boys only, Mr. Ford is offering tumbling. Tumbling will develop a sense of timing, rhythm, strength and teamwork so essential in the field of sports. Girls, 6 years and older, are able to go beyond the preschool level and more advanced dance techniques will be presented to them.

For more information on these classes, please contact, Mrs. E. Dewey, WY 2-1328 or Mrs. H. Hahn at FL 5-5769.

ment showed the water system in need of $1.5 million worth of repairs. The new rate hike would bring in necessary revenues to make these repairs, he said. Kirchhubel repeated his arguments that a public utilities commission should be formed and he said the council would be taking water funds from capital outlay funds.

Appointments

Wilfred O'Rourke, 49 Sheffield drive and Howard (Dutch) Elston, 35 Ocean Grove avenue, were re-appointed to the recreation commission. Maude Hanselman, 506 Hillside boulevard, was re-appointed to the library commission.

Street Clean-up

Al Blasi, 427 Bellevue avenue, wrung a promise from the city council to clean-up Acton street near Lincoln Park. The street, he complained is full of dirt and debris.

Deny Garbage Permit

The council decided against issuing a temporary permit to local Scavenger Company president Al Cerini to dump garbage in the garbage dump site from nine homes in Westborough.

Car Stripping Ring Uncovered By Local Arrest

San Francisco police have been working like "eager beavers" since the Daly City police arrest of three youths on charges of stripping down a 1959 Chevrolet Impala.

The April 7 arrest cleared up 15 cases for San Francisco police, according to Detective Phil LaBruzzi.

The car was stolen April 4 from its owner, Lawrence Caratti, 627 Templeton avenue. Caratti came across his stripped car three days later in front of 1127 Wisconsin street in San Francisco.

He saw a garage door open. Inside were three youths and what appeared to be his dashboard accessories and engine on the floor.

While Caratti talked to the young men in the garage, a friend called the police.

Officers arrested Robert Carpo, 19, of 914 Wisconsin; Frank Weber, 18, of 214 Onondaga street, and Bruce Hablisch, 17, of 896 Wisconsin street.

They were charged with grand theft and receiving stolen property.

"It was more than just a joy ride kick," LaBruzzi stated.

The youths, he said, had been stripping down cars for some time. Some had been dropped at the Colma cemeteries, two on Skyline drive near the Olympic Club, and one at the Chinese cemetery.

Interest And Dividend Snatching

If the Bill introduced in Congress, passed by the House and now before the Senate, providing for a withholding income tax on dividends and interest at the rate of 20 per cent, becomes law, it will block the use of 20 per cent of an individual's income from interest or dividends before taxes on the same are normally due.

Unlike salary and wage withholding, dividend and interest withholding cannot be individualized. This bill would take 20 per cent of all dividends and interest, regardless of whether or how much the recipient owed for taxes: It would be the responsibility of the shareholder to prepare an exemption certificate or a claim for refund. The periodic filing of these forms presents a complicated procedure which would place a staggering burden on the shareholder, and on the dividend-paying agent, as well as the Internal Revenue Service itself.

For those who are reinvesting dividends through investment plans or reinvestment accounts, the inequity goes further. Funds which normally would be used to obtain the benefits of compounding would be arbitrarily removed from that purpose and applied to payment of possible tax liability. This would adversely affect long-term investment results.

Last year taxpayer account numbering was voted into law, which, with electronic data processing, is the only practical solution to under-reporting of dividends and interest. With this new equipment, the Internal Revenue Service hopes to determine the tax status of any taxpayer and systematically uncover anyone who fails to file a return.

The Treasury's current taxpayer education program should be continued, instead of adopting compulsory withholding, until electronic data processing takes over.

Back To An Axiom

It's one thing to pass or amend a law — but, on many an occasion, it's a very different thing to put it smoothly into operation. Take, for instance, last year's extension of the Federal wage-hour law as it applies to retail trade, and to various other businesses.

The affected enterprises faced a problem concerning the rate that had to be paid students who worked after school hours and on weekends, and the kind of work they could do. Retailers have long employed many such people, even though their value is limited.

This matter has, at least in part, been clarified. But there are more big hurdles. One of these, according to a retailers' association, is to obtain workable definitions of executives, supervisors, and professionals who will be exempt from the overtime requirements of the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The point is that, as the government exerts more and more control over the affairs of business, and as its directing hand touches more and more businesses, varying degrees of disruption must result. In many cases, the problems created require expensive solutions, and all business costs, let it be remembered, must be paid by the customers of business — no one else can pay them. It all goes back to the axiom that the less government we can do with, the better for us all.

A Memorial Day Thought

"On Memorial Day, we give renewed thought to the memory of loved ones, but being human, we dwell primarily on the happier days rather than on the often unhappy causes of their departure," said Dr. Eldon E. Ellis, president of the San Mateo County Heart Association.

Continuing, Dr. Ellis said that "with deeper thought, we realize that longevity in many cases might have resulted from greater personal attention to health, greater caution at the wheel of a car — actually, things over which a measure of human control may be exercised."

"In the case of heart disease, the nation's number one killer and our greatest concern, the results of accelerated heart research are giving all of us the opportunity for longer and useful lives," he said. "Through memorial gifts to the Heart Association, we put real meaning into remembering our families and friends who have gone. Somehow, you feel that this means of remembrance meets with your approval."

The View From ..Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

Jargon and officialese... Policemen never "go" anywhere — they "proceed to" a location. (Except when they are dispatched by radio, and then they "respond to" an address.)

An officer never reports that a fracas has been stopped, or that he has quieted the offending noise; rather, he has "abated the disturbance."

The individual officer has a modest aversion to incorporation of the first person singular in his reports. He usually makes an end run around this psychological obstacle by using wording like "this officer," "the undersigned," "the reporting officer," "the responding officer," or else he will cloak himself in such terms as the all exclusive anonymity of, simply, "officers."

People don't get out of their automobile; they usually "alight from the vehicle."

A few years ago, there was a take-off on the Jack Webb "Dragnet" series. It concerned the use of numbers in the police conversation. There was more truth than humor in the described take-off.

The jargon here originates in the police radio code. Code numbers are used to shorten radio transmissions. By eliminating excess verbiage from police radio conversations, more time remains for more transmissions by more people, and greater communications efficiency results. Even so, use of the code, sometimes at times amusing in itself, carries over into the everyday shop talk of the officers — at times to an extent that borders on the ridiculous.

(Time: After any watch.)

(Scene: A restaurant. Hunched over cups of coffee are the officers who have just reported off duty. They are talking shop.)

(First Officer): "Did you cop that kick of mine, earlier? I had a five, eighteen, four eighteen, one oh two. Hell of a mess."

(Translation): "Were you aware of my earlier assignment? I was dispatched to investigate a report of an auto accident, in which the participants were fighting. One of the drivers was alleged to be drunk. It was quite involved."

(Second Officer): "No, I was ten seven em and then I on viewed two seventeen twenty two's. I heard you had a one fifty eight, though."

(Translation): "No, I was not aware of your assignment, inasmuch as I was seated at my evening meal at that time. Following this, while on patrol, I came upon two inebriated citizens and was occupied with this situation for a time. I did understand that you were forced to deal with a recalcitrant prisoner, however."

(First Officer): "One forty eight! It was a four oh six. The one oh two perpetrated a two forty two on me, and a citizen made a nine oh one to the station, which helped. Lucky there were two units ten eight nearby when the four oh six went out."

(Translation): "This case was more than a mere resisting arrest. The message was broadcast that an officer was in need of assistance. The person who was alleged to have been the drunken driver perpetrated the crime of battery upon my person. Fortunately, a passerby telephoned a description of the situation to the station. Luckily, two radio cars were on patrol in the area when the broadcast was made."

(Enter two male beatniks, who walk by the officers. They are conversing.)

(First Beatnik): "Man, what a bash at your pad last night."

(Second Officer): "Boy, who can understand those guys, with the lingo they talk?"

(Curtain.)

Officers do not talk with people; rather do they "converse with the complainant."

And words from the legal tomes filter occasionally into the police reports. Often, you will find, it isn't that the suspect refuses to affirm or deny his guilt; rather, he "stands mute."

This column will now be abated, and this officer will stand mute, until next week when the undersigned will again converse with the reader.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

Herman Wouk, author of the Caine Mutiny and Marjorie Morningstar, has written a new novel that promises to be on most everyone's reading list. And, this in spite of the fact that Youngblood Hawke contains over seven hundred pages. It is a story of a young man whose aim is high, but who cannot control his behavior in the tumult created by his own vitality and talent. This inability leads three men to unhappy hours.

Mr. Wouk is at his best when he is treating the frustrations of contemporary life. His people are adults who must learn to face real problems in a mature fashion. The incidents through his people pass are steps crowded with tension that slowly rise until they reach a climax where the future awaits the characters. Many of these incidents are inspired by events reported by the press. Hence their authenticity.

In all of Wouk's novels, there is a blending of sorrow and humor, religion and philosophy. The blending is so profound one knows that the author understands the ambitions, desires, and fears of adult Americans and also understands himself.

Herman Wouk is a graduate of Columbia University. He studied literature and creative writing there. Before World War II, his main endeavors were writing radio shows. One of his most successful was the Fred Allen Show. During the war he, like his hero in the Caine Mutiny, served on a ship in the Pacific. Since his discharge, he has lived in New York City. He lives among people like those who appear in the pages of Youngblood Hawke and Marjorie Morningstar. He has written ten novels and one play.

It's News To Vets

Q—Is it true that by saving cellophane strips from cigarette packs, metal strips from coffee cans or cellophane, that one can obtain a seeing-eye dog for a veteran?

A—These rumors receive wide distribution and hundreds of kindly people save such items. But they are not true. In all similar cases, it might be wise to check with your local Better Business Bureau.

Q—Must an eligible war orphan attend college to take advantage of VA's educational benefits? I would like to study typing and stenography to prepare for a business career.

A—Training that leads to a business career or similar vocational preparation is allowed. The only prohibition bars the study of high school level subjects.

Q—Are veterans of the so-called Haitian expedition of 30 years ago considered war veterans?

A—They are eligible for the special benefits provided for peacetime veterans but, unless they had other service, they are not considered "war veterans."

TV and RADIO

By MONA BAKER

High fashion hair styles, elegant gowns—it was truly a gala evening for Bay Area television when the San Francisco Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences held their first annual "Night With the Stars" celebrating the 14th annual "Emmy Awards."

In attendance at the invitational dinner were many television stars, both local and from Hollywood, as well as representatives from all the Bay Area stations.

The affair was held as a benefit for educational channel KQED and KVIE in Sacramento in the advancement of educational television in Northern California.

We had a chance to renew our acquaintance with Shirley Temple Black and Jane Wyatt. Mrs. Black was beautiful in a bouffant gown with a portrait neckline. Miss Wyatt was striking in a bright turquoise print.

Following special entertainment guests watched the national "Emmy Awards" from New York, Hollywood and Washington. Winners are selected by a vote of Academy members. Scheduled for announcement in June is the TV Guide awards which are voted for by the general viewing public. We will be anxious to compare the results of that balloting and see if the viewing public have similar favorites to those of the industry.

Of interest to little theater groups around the Bay Area is the announcement of a contest for original half-hour television scripts over Channel 4. Winners will receive a cash award and selected scripts will be produced as television shows to be aired over KQED-TV. Casts for the plays will be chosen from the winning author's little theater group.

Entries must be in by August 15 and little theater groups may submit three scripts in the contest.

TV DATES TO JOT DOWN: Two new programs debuting over KQED this week—"The Written Word," story of early primitive marks and pictographs to coming of modern printing, premiering Wed. 4 p.m. and on Thurs. 8:30 p.m. new series titled "Your Marriage," "The Melting Pot" over "Expedition California" will relate the story of origin of the many nationalities in the Bay Area on June 4, 6:30 p.m. over KGO-TV. Marking the 18th anniversary of largest military landing in history, NBC, KRON-TV will present "D Day" over "Du Pont Show of the Week," June 3, 10 p.m.

Special CBS news report on election campaign in 50 states titled "The Fifty Faces of '62" will be seen over KPIL, May 30, 10 p.m.

"Film Encores" over "Mantovani" on May 29 over KTVU at 8:30 p.m.

Food For Thought

By the Daly City Ministerial Association

There are a lot of things I like about Daly City. The Creator has lavishly favored our hills and shores with extensive beauty and fascinating weather. We have superb educational systems, efficient local government, attractive homes and landscapes, adequate stores and professional offices, and close location to San Francisco's cultural and business life. Thousands of hard-working, pleasant people call this their home. Yes, all of these and other advantages make Daly City a mighty good place to live.

But there are several areas where I believe Daly City is lacking. To remedy these needs will make our city an even better place to live. To neglect them will hurt us all.

Obviously we need better public transportation, and improved parks and recreation facilities—especially a swimming pool in Westlake—and development of Thornton Beach State Park. But principally, the religious life of our community leaves much to be desired. Unless we are strong at this point, other phases of community life will ultimately depreciate.

Several examples could be cited. For one, at present we have no co-operation of any kind existing between Roman Catholic and Protestant Clergy. Speaking as one Clergyman, I have tried to encourage such co-operation at points where benefits would accrue to the community at large but without success. We serve one God and have one Savior. Surely co-operation between both groups of "Christian" Clergymen would benefit our Community.

Another Spiritual need is for more Daly City residents to attend churches here where they live. Local churches are weakened by people driving by them to churches miles away. It is consistent with sound logic and Christian Stewardship for people who move to a new community to serve Christian interests where they live. We can't expect people from other cities to support Daly City churches.

Finally, there are thousands who live in Daly City, enjoy the many blessings of God, take all the gifts of a Christian heritage for granted and go to no church. KRUSCHEV DOESN'T GO TO CHURCH, EITHER! Here is a question which must be faced: "What essential difference is there between a Communist who declares God doesn't exist and an American who by refusing to give worship to God acts as if God doesn't exist—or at least doesn't count?"

These are days when mighty forces of evil are unleashed against us. All our highly developed culture, status symbols and materialistic gods cannot sustain us in the Evil Day. Unless the hearts of men are right their thinking and doing goes wrong. We can both honor God and save our lives by giving preeminence to spiritual things. And everyone who does this helps make Daly City a better place in which to live.

PASTOR LYN E. HODGES, Westlake Community Baptist Church, Southgate and Elmwood streets, Daly City, California.

FIRE FACTS

This article is written by Daly City Firemen and published in this paper for the purpose of keeping the public informed about their fire department, its duties and associated activities.

Most of us, if not all of us, carry some sort of insurance, whether it be auto, life, or on the family dog in the event he bites the neighbor's kid.

We carry auto insurance because the possibility of having an accident some time throughout our driving career is rather high. And the bread winner has a moral obligation to see that his family is provided for in the event of his untimely death.

But fire insurance seems to be rather neglected, or so it appears from the fire department's side of the picture.

Certainly most of us carry fire insurance on our homes, but do all of us carry adequate, if any, fire insurance for our personal fire effects?

During the past few months fires have occurred in homes where the homeowners have either neglected to renew their insurance on their personal effects, never carried it, or carried such a small amount of insurance that it wouldn't even furnish them with a new suit.

After every fire, it's necessary for the officer in charge to fill out a report regarding fire loss to the structure and personal effects, and which insurance company has the coverage. Heads will always shake and maybe a whispered "Oh, brother..." will come from one of the fire fighters standing within earshot, when the homeowner replies that he has no coverage on his personal effects.

We shake our heads because we are honestly sorry; we have seen families standing out in the street with a shocked look on their faces. And the next day after the shock has worn off they rummage through the burnt area trying to save something. If the insurance isn't adequate the fire could very possibly set the family back years financially.

It's bad enough having a fire but to let it ruin you is unthinkable in this day and age. You will probably find that most firemen will carry ample insurance to compensate for any type of fire. We have seen what fire can do to a home and to things that make a home.

We mentioned sometime ago that every two minutes a home somewhere in the U.S. is experiencing some type of fire, and it could happen to you as well as someone down the street. Remember too that a home doesn't have to be fully engulfed by flames to receive severe damage. A stuffed chair smoldering over the weekend while you're away can be just as destructive.

Even though we all hate the idea of being insurance poor it's still a good idea to check with your fire insurance broker every two years or so. He may be able to save you a lot of headaches.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

A $2,900,000 bond proposal to build 14 superior and two more municipal courtrooms will appear on the June 5 primary election ballot.

The proposed addition to the county hall of justice is supposed to give the county seat adequate courtrooms until 1990.

The present hall of justice was finished in 1956 at a cost of more than $3,000,000 and was supposed to last for ten years. Nearly every department now needs more room.

The 16 additional courtrooms that will be needed will be provided on the first, second and third floors of the addition. But they will not be finished as courtrooms at this time, but will be designed so that they can be used temporarily as county offices until they are needed as courtrooms.

Planned is a five-story addition which will occupy part of the hall block now used for parking.

The jail will occupy nearly all of the fourth floor. Most of the additional space will provide dormitories for inmates serving time for relatively minor offenses.

A fallout-proof basement is being built in the new office building across the street and a tunnel under Bradford street is planned to connect the two centers.

Adult probation department, now housed on the fourth floor, will move to the new office building across the street when it is completed, and the space it now occupies will be taken over by the district attorney.

Children's YWCA Classes To Begin

By DORIS FOX

The YWCA of North Mateo County, in cooperation with the Daly City Recreation Department, is offering a complete line of children's classes for a six weeks summer session, beginning the week of June 18. Due to large attendance for the classes, the fees are lower than usual and YWCA membership is not required. It is suggested, though, that since membership is required in the fall to continue the classes, anyone may join the Y at this time.

Volunteers Needed

Volunteer mothers will be especially needed and if they have any previous training in any of the classes, special provision will be made for the child. Due to lack of space, no adult classes will be available this summer, but golf, swimming, millinery and many new activities will be available again in the fall.

Creative Group Play will be offered to boys and girls, 3 to 5 years, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at $4 for the six weeks. Teachers will be Doris Fox, Joyce Scramaglia, Audrey Walsh and Frances Traina.

Baton twirling will meet Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 5 to 8 and 8 to 12-year-old girls. The fee is $3 and the teacher is Ruth Galindo.

Ballet and modern dance for 6 to 12 year old girls will meet Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with Barney Mead the teacher, and the fee is $4. Basic dance techniques will be given for 3 to 5 year old boys and girls on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with a 4 fee. Tap dance will meet Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for boys and girls 6 to 12 for $4. The teacher will be from the Shipley and Smith School of the Dance. Folk dancing will be fun for boys and girls, 8 to 14 years, on Mondays for $4 with Barney Mead as teacher.

Hula Classes

Beginning and intermediate girls can enjoy hula dances on Tuesday from Y teacher Jerry Matlock for a $4 fee. Boys and girls, 13 to 15, can practice the latest ballroom dances from Y teacher Barney Mean on Wednesday for a $4 fee.

Princess Charming will be fun for girls, 13 to 15, on Saturday, as taught by model Diane Darnell. The fee is $5.

The time and place for all the summer classes has not been set, but by calling the Y office (PL 6-7370) more definite information can be given. Pre-registration is suggested as the summer classes have proven to be very popular. A special rate will be offered for the Creative Group Play and Dance classes with two days a week for $7 and three days for $11.

Westmoor Girls Tour CSM Campus

A field trip was taken to San Mateo Junior College on Tuesday, May 15, by Westmoor senior girls in Mrs. Kay Ravenel's and Stanley Graubart's stenography classes. The trip was taken to observe an advanced shorthand-transcription class in action.

Senior girls who went on the excursion were Linda Elliott, Nancy McConnell, Sue Mason, Blaise Menard, Jan Piccinini, Michele Rossi, Jane Scarborough, Kathleen Ritchie, Mary Varden, Norma Vladys and Nancy Woolfenden.

Westmoor's steno classes arrived at the college at 9:30 a. m. and watched former Westmoor teacher Mrs. Hopkins' dictation and transcribing class at work. A tour of the campus was taken and the girls saw an office machines class, complete with IBM machines and key-punch machines.

The library was viewed and then the girls listened to a brief talk outlining the college's program by the president and vice president of the college.

RAPID TRANSIT STATION proposed for Walnut Creek is depicted in the above photograph, with Mt. Diablo in the background. The aerial station and adjacent parking lot would be located in the area bounded by Ygnacio Valley road, North California avenue and Pringle avenue. Assured rapid transit travel times to and from the Walnut Creek station include: Concord, seven minutes; Orinda, eight minutes; 11th and Broadway, Oakland, 18 minutes; 77th avenue, Oakland, 25 minutes; Hayward, 35 minutes; downtown Berkeley, 26 minutes; Market and Montgomery San Francisco, 26 minutes; Powell and Market, San Francisco, 27 minutes. — Bay Area Rapid Transit photograph.

ON BOARD — This photo-rendering typifies a passenger boarding zone on a proposed Bay Area Rapid Transit aerial station. Passengers will pay fares prior to boarding trains through use of either a credit card device or a turnstile money-changing machine. . . . Throughout the morning and evening rush periods, trains will come by stations as frequently as every 90 seconds. During normal day and evening hours, rapid transit trains will operate 15 minutes apart. All rapid transit lines will be able to carry 30,000 seated passengers every hour in each direction. — Bay Area Rapid Transit photograph.

RAPID TRANSIT PLANS SUBMITTED TO BOARD

Plans for the Bay Area's proposed 75-mile regional rail rapid transit system were submitted May 24 to the board of directors of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Following official adoption, they will be referred to the boards of supervisors of San Francisco, Alameda and Contra Costa counties for approval, the necessary prerequisite before a $792,000,000 bond issue can be placed before the voters next Nov. 6.

The plans call for construction of an ultra-modern network of aerial, subway and surface lines over which fast electric trains would serve more than 30 cities and communities.

Details of the system were contained in a 90-page report prepared by the district's engineering, financial and economic consultants.

Marin, San Mateo Out

The report represents a revision of earlier plans that provided for transit service to Marin and San Mateo counties, both of which have since been withdrawn from the initial construction program.

Included in the report are separate sections devoted to the engineering plan, financial plan, tax analysis, and economic appraisal.

The BARTD consulting firms are: Engineering — Bechtel Corporation and Tudor Engineering Company of San Francisco, and Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas of New York.

Financial — Smith Barney & Company of New York.

Taxation — Stone & Youngberg of San Francisco.

Economic — Van Buren Stanbery of San Francisco.

Eight Years to Build

The rapid transit system would be constructed in eight and one-half years, according to the schedule drawn up by the joint engineering consultants, but much of the system would be in operation in five years.

Bulk of the capital cost would be provided from the $792,000,000 bond issue, with repayment to be derived from property taxes levied uniformly throughout the three-county district. Additional amounts for construction of the trans-Bay

Improvement Loans Available To Vets

A recent administrative change has made Cal-Vet home improvement loans available to a broader group of Cal-Vet contract holders.

San Mateo County Veterans' Service Officer, Floyd D. Granger, said the effect of the change was to raise the ceiling on improvement loans from $3,500 to $4,000.

According to Granger, the California department of veterans affairs has recognized the need for the loans and intends that such loans be made so long as the funds permit.

Although the basic intent of the program is still to use existing money to meet the initial requests for the purchase of a farm or home, says Granger, improvement loans are also needed to give the contract holding veteran the additional space needed to house a family that has increased during the loan period, and for major maintenance projects in the home.

Friedenberg and Rizzo will coordinate and direct the efforts of the numerous "Citizens for Gately" committees operating in each of the communities within the boundaries of the district.

Both Friedenberg and Rizzo stated they have chosen to support Gately's behalf because they feel he is the "most qualified candidate."

From A Feminine Viewpoint...

By Mona Baker

Waving emerald green leaves as far as the eye could see—row upon row of artichoke plants with the background of the blue Pacific and Marin hills stretched before us. Twelve years ago we stood in the back yard of our new home and wondered—would this ever be a city?

Men of vision came and a city grew. Now where once were fertile farmlands new schools were built, new homes sprung up, smart new shopping centers came.

So, too, came people. New families arrived and became part of the community. They joined churches, clubs, organizations and began making their contributions to a better life for their families and themselves.

We are proud of our community. We hope that this column will, in a small way, reflect our community, its citizens and their many activities.

Each week we plan a profile sketch of an outstanding woman of the area. If you have someone in your organization you feel deserves recognition, please let us know.

Our nomination for this week's community leader arrived in San Francisco three years ago from Hawaii, where she had been in charge of fashion shows at the Royal Hawaiian. She charmed everyone who came in contact with her. With countless hours of work and a genuine enthusiasm for her job, she proceeded to make the YWCA one of the most active local organizations last year, serving thousands of women, teen-agers and children in northern San Mateo county.

In the meantime, in her "spare time," she earned her degree at San Francisco State.

Her hard work has been rewarded—she has just received a national scholarship (one of two in the nation) offered by the National YWCA for graduate work at the University of California.

So it is "thanks, farewell and good luck" to YWCA director Elaine Wolfe, who will be leaving our community in August for Berkeley to continue her studies.

She was honored by a luncheon last week at Westlake Bowl with many community leaders in attendance.

VACATION NOTES: With the school year drawing to a close, local families are busy making vacation plans.

Off to their summer home at Tahoe is the Mike Orlich family. Tahoe bound, too, for a two week's stay at the North End of the Lake is the Ed Morgan family.

Lake-minded, too, is the Davis family, who with "Skipper Don" at the helm flying over the water at Lake Berryessa in their "Chris Craft" and week-ending at their new place at Monticello.

Another boat-minded family are the Dr. Theodore Bartelmezs, who spend their weekends aboard their 25-foot sailboat, "Whimbrel," cruising around the Bay.

It seems everybody—but everybody—is making plans to attend the Seattle World's Fair. From the business community, just back is Grats' manager, Mrs. Tillie Green and her husband, Huger, who felt that the highlight of their trip was luncheon in the revolving space needle with the panoramic views of snow covered mountains and blue bay. Making plans to go to the fair in the summer are the Ray Charettes.

FASHION NOTES & NEWS: Closing a busy year with a grand climax is the YWCA, which will present its final fashion show on June 7 with elegant fashions from H. Liebes.

"The most successful ever" describes the recent fashion show-dinner dance. Certainly the subject of many admiring glances was June Sargis, lovely in gold lame, hosting a large party from Casual Aire, both Stonestown and Westlake stores.

PARTIES: Just around the corner is June—the month of brides. Busy with final plans for a June wedding is Allene Downey, Westmoor graduate attending Stanford (she will graduate at the end of summer), who was guest of honor at a kitchen shower last week. Allene recently returned from abroad where she spent six months at the Stanford campus in Germany.

Localities at the television "Emmy Awards" dinner included KGO-TV's sales manager, Russ Coughlan, and Mrs. Coughlan at a table with KGO representatives.

Combining business and pleasure were 30 members of the Colma Lions Club and their wives who attended the district Lions convention, which was held at Hobergs last weekend.

New president of the San Mateo County Teacher's Association is Jefferson principal John Belforte, who was installed at an installation dinner held last Thursday evening in Burlingame. He heads a group of 3,800 teachers, both high school and elementary. County Superintendent James Tormey conducted the installation ceremony.

Off to New York next month is Alec Land, who will attend a special seminar in the Eastern city with more than 4,000 store executives from all over the United States in attendance.

Italy bound the first of June are Frank and Ida Spadarella, owners of Toto's Restaurant, who will be looking for more famous recipes to add to their menu. Because he has had so many requests for his individual dishes, Frank has printed menus on file cards which he hands out to his customers.

Concluding a most successful year until fall is the Friends of the Daly City Library who held their annual meeting last Thursday evening. New officers for the coming year include: Mrs. H. S. Garrison, president, Mrs. C. A. Keith, vice-president, Mrs. D. R. Calvert, recording secretary, Mrs. R. A. Barth, treasurer, Mrs. Julian D. Cohn, parliamentarian. New directors for the coming year are Mrs. Robert Evans, Mrs. Vincent Stratton, Mrs. F. M. Specht and Mrs. Milton Staub. Speaker for the evening was Mr. Harold E. Korf.

Their popular Thursday morning book reviews which have been so well received by the community will resume again in the fall.

NOTE: If you have any general news items or "social tidbits" that you feel would fit in this column mail to: "From a Feminine Viewpoint" c/o Marchbanks Publications, 3317 San Jose Avenue, Daly City.

Learning Problems Of Children To Be Aired

DAVIS—With the national "drop-out" rate estimated at 40 per cent, U. S. educators are becoming increasingly concerned over this large number of students failing to complete high school. Dr. James B. Conant has described these unschooled, unskilled, and generally unemployed youths as "social dynamite."

Recognizing that many drop-outs are actually capable students suffering emotional or physical difficulties that prevent them from learning, University of California Extension on the Davis campus will hold a summer workshop in the learning problems of children. Designed to familiarize teachers with the most effective techniques in identifying and working with such children, the workshop will be conducted by Dr. Marianne Frostig, noted child psychiatrist.

The week-long workshop of lectures and supervised laboratory practice with children is scheduled for June 18-23, and carries two units of credit. The fee is $40.

Dr. Frostig is one of the pioneers in her field, having worked for more than 30 years with emotionally disturbed and physically handicapped children. Her U. S. practice began in Los Angeles in 1947 with one child and now has grown into a clinic with a staff of 30 treating 150 children. She also travels throughout the U. S. and abroad giving lectures and workshops.

Educated in Europe and America, Dr. Frostig studied in Vienna under Hans Hoff and August Aichorn. Aichorn, a student of Freud, is one of the principal developers of psychoanalytic theory, especially as applied to delinquent children.

Since coming to America, Dr. Frostig has studied at the New School for Social Research in New York City and the University of Southern California, where she received her doctorate in psychology.

Dr. Frostig is the author of numerous journal articles and a forthcoming book of training materials for children with visual perception difficulties.

For complete information on Dr. Frostig's workshop, contact University Extension, University of California, Davis, Skyline 3-4011, Extension 402.

Alone of migratory birds, the Canada goose seems capable of surmounting the 26,000 foot barrier of the Himalayas, reports the National Automobile Club.

YW-wives serving as hostesses and in the back room are: Joan Jacobson, Elsie Daly, Lois Kornahrens, Barbara Keenan, Daisy Tripodes, Eileen Smullen and Forna Horsley.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Samuel Sklavos and Mrs. Gordon Keenan.

MRS. FORIEST CUNNINGHAM, outgoing president of the 17th district of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, admires gold watch presented her at recent installation. Looking on from left to right are: Mrs. L. H. Prager, recording secretary; Mrs. Harry Caplan, installing officer; Mrs. L. E. Engleman, president-elect, and her daughter, Diana Lee.

By GARRY NIVER

"The sky is the limit," said the well-built, well-mannered youth in the coaches' room of Westmoor high school.

Dennis "Dusty" Chase, the holder of the top national prep mark in the pole vault this year, was commenting on his future aspirations.

The handsome, almost humble lad, then came back to reality and said that he is concentrating mostly on winning the state finals at Modesto next Saturday. "I hope to be able to reach the 14 foot - 6 inch mark at my final prep meet," Chase said.

Last Saturday at Stanford Stadium, Chase realized one of his dreams and soared over the horizontal bar at 14 feet — establishing him as the top prep jumper in the United States.

His coach, former Fresno State hurdle star Bob Blevins, believes that Dennis is capable of attaining this height next Saturday at the finals. It would be a fitting achievement to bow out his sparkling prep career on.

Chase has eclipsed every other high school track record on the Peninsula and northern California, and the 14-foot vault would ring down the curtain on the most famous track star in Westmoor's five-year history.

The 155 pound senior has topped the 13 foot mark six times and on at least two occasions missed 14-1 by just a fraction of the proverbial hair. Last Saturday was his first success at 14 feet.

"He has tremendous powers of concentration and that is what really counts," said Blevins.

Chase uses what is known as the classic swing, as compared the jolt and jump. In the classic, performed with the fiber glass pole, the vaulter continues to run through after the pole is in the pit and starts up on a very powerful swing. In the jolt and jump, where the rigid pole is used, the jumper is jolted at the moment of pole contact with the pit, and the vaulter must immediately jump.

The flexible fiberglass has caused a few problem with Chase to date. Twice in practice the youth shattered the fiber glass pole and was shaken up for several days.

He barely qualified for the Peninsula League finals with a borrowed pole following the first broken pole. But the second time Chase soared 13-6 3/4 on a borrowed pole, which is analogous to Willie Mays hitting four home runs in one game with a borrowed bat.

Dennis isn't the only one in his family who is a nationally known pole vaulter figure. His brother, Jeff, a member of the famed Santa Clara Youth Village team, is one of the top ten vaulters in the United States, having a 15-4 jump this year. Jeff tied Dave Tork and John Uelses at the Mount San Antonio relays recently. Ironically, it was the same day that Dennis went 13-9 3/4 at El Cerrito relays to tie the 1962 national prep mark.

Brother Jeff, who recently got married, holds the school record at Jefferson and is tied for the record at College of San Mateo. Both he and Blevins, who studied under the famed vaulter Cornelius Wamerdam at Fresno State, have given Dennis valuable pointers.

The soft-spoken youth is yet to be beat in any big meet this year. He won the Peninsula League relays at 12-7; the Bellarmine invitational at 13-0; the Davis invitational at 13-6 3/4; Fresno's famed West Coast relays at 13-2; and last Saturday's sectionals at Stanford at 14 feet.

Dennis is as yet undecided about his choice of college. Taking the matter intelligently, he believes that a year at College of San Mateo will come before he makes the important decision. However, he is going to wait until after graduation to make a decision. He has chosen the highly competitive field of real estate as his vocation.

In the meantime, Dennis will concentrate on the state finals at Modesto this Saturday, and let the various colleges vie for his talents following graduation.

ON THE SIDELINES... Jeff basketball coach Mike Orlich reports that the renovated gym is complete and only needs the approval of the school administration. One addition Mike is trying to get in for next basketball season is glass backboards.

Former South San Francisco high baseball star Howie Goss has moved into the clean-up spot for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Goss is Danny Murtaugh's long-ball hitter now that Roberto Clement is unringing a slump.

South San Francisco All PL everything Jim Dombroski is reportedly interested in Willamette University in Oregon. It's a reciprocal reaction because Willamette is also interested in Dombroski. Baseball and basketball star Don Stout might also wind up at the Oregon school.

Daly City's Jack Jones is currently swatting the ball for a .293 average for the Lakeland Giants of the Florida State League.

Pentathlon At Benjamin Franklin

There will be a Pentathlon at Benjamin Franklin school Saturday, June 2. The event will include: 50 yd. dash; 600 yd. run; hop, step, and jump; softball throw for distance; and high jump.

The boys in the physical education classes are put into a letter classification from A-H depending on the boy's age, height, and weight. The boys earning the most points for their performances in the five events will receive awards for their performances. All seventh and eighth grade boys are invited to attend.

Peninsula League Enters Stretch

Jefferson and Westmoor round the turn and whip into the stretch towards the finish wire in the final Peninsula League baseball race, trying for a desperation bid to finish in the money.

Favorites Capuchino and Mills, who closed at even money, are the front-runners, battling down to the wire in what could be a two-team photo finish. The stretch-driving Indians are running down the fading leaders and could end up in a dead-heat for third with disappointing co-favorite South SF if they sweep their final four games.

The proud Rams from Westmoor, tiring under the weight of young talent, will have to be content with a second-division finish.

That is the run down in the final running of the fifth annual Peninsula League Baseball race. A week from Friday, when the last out is completed, another era of the Peninsula history will give away to progress. The PL, which had its inception in 1937, will divide into two new leagues—The San Mateo County District League and the North Peninsula Athletic League, due to the rapid growth in Peninsula population.

For the first time since 1924 Jefferson will not be in the same league as San Mateo.

Jeff, Westmoor, South City, Terra Nova, El Camino and new Oceana will form the new NP-AL next year. Ironically it was an identical named league (NP-AL) which gave way to the PL in 1957, composed of the same teams now in the PL.

Coach Steve Mezzera's Indians will close out their PL career in a torrid style as they play three games in two days.

On Thursday the Indian batters trek down to Burlingame for a double-header with the Panthers. Mezzera will throw Steve Carpenter in the opener and either Pryor Bailey or Mike Rovai in the night cap.

On Friday local fans will get their last peek at the Indians under a PL banner as they host the powerful Hillsdale Knights in a 3:15 p.m. contest at Marchbanks field. Mezzera has delegated ace-moundsmen Bob Miller, who upset South SF last Friday, to do the chores.

Rich Reitz, 1961 All-PL second team, and Mike Morton will be the local's main hope for the four game sweep. The two Indians are hitting at a bristling clip and could offset Hillsdale's power.

The 1962 Indians close out their campaign next Tuesday when they cross bats with the Aragon Dons in a 3:15 p.m. tilt at Aragon.

The Westmoor Rams, who wound up their home schedule last week, finish out their final PL action on the road.

Next Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. they play Hillsdale at Hillsdale. On Wednesday the green and white troops again march south to tangle with the Burlingame Panthers in a 3:15 p.m. contest. Friday, June 8, the Westmoor lads ring down the curtain in a return engagement at Burlingame. Losberger will be counting on pitchers Harry Brown and Dave Williams to pull the Rams through with final victories.

Losberger will also be relying heavily on All PL candidate Bruce Hix. The sophomore sensation is currently hitting a bristling .476, only .012 points behind PL leader Wally Bunker who has a .488 average.

SPORTS

The Westmoor high lady Rams battered South City in badminton and softball tournament last Thursday, taking the singles 12-9 and doubles 16-10.

Under softball team captain Pat Marks, and with support of Darlene Meir's Stu Bailey tactics, WHS Girls' Athletic Association team ended the tournament meet with an 11-5 victory.

The meet is part of program designed to bring girls of different league high schools together through sports.

Raiders Sign Linebacker

Blayne Jones, a 5-11, 215-pound linebacker who spent last season playing for the Montreal Alouettes in the Canadian League, signed a contract with the Oakland Raiders yesterday.

Jones is not unknown to the American Football League entry in Oakland since he appeared on their 1961 draft list in the 22nd round. The former Little All-American performer played his college ball at Idaho State College. A Northern California product, Jones competed for Fremont High School in Sunnyvale before a two-year stint with San Jose City College prior to his transfer to the Idaho school.

South SF Muni Workers Hold Public Dance

South San Francisco Municipal Employees, Local 1569, will join 200,000 public employees throughout the country in celebrating National Public Employees Week from June 3 through June 9 this year, Philip Scannell, local president, announced today.

Public Employees Week is Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, an international union of public employees. It is observed on a nation-wide basis through its local affiliates to show citizens what their tax money can and is doing for them. Public attention is focused on the services of state, county and municipal government during this week and recognition is giving to public employees whose efficient job performance is essential to the health, safety and general welfare of all their fellow citizens.

This year, on the eve of Saturday, June 9, members of Local 1569 will once again close the week's activities by sponsoring their third annual public dance in recognition of Public Employees Week in South San Francisco.

Members of the local working on the dance committee are Mitchell Marazlec, Harry John-

No-Hitter In Merchant Opener

Steve Sanguinetti opened the South San Francisco Merchant Sponsored Baseball league on an auspicious note Saturday as he threw a no-hitter for PAL Number One in Pony League action.

Sanguinetti, a little shaky the opening frame when he allowed a PAL Luitemant to cross the plate, went on to shut the door as he struck out ten and slammed a homer and single in the PAL no. 1's 7-1 win.

Miller Realty scored two runs in the last of the seventh to take a come-from-behind 5-4 win over last year's Pony League champ, Clearlite Trophy.

In other action QFI's Arnie Andreacchi's three-hitter boosted the grocers to a 7-3 win over Winston Shell. Final Pony action for the day saw PAL Number Two blast the South San Francisco Pirates 17-2 behind the two-hit pitching of Steve Hammond and Dave Rogge.

13-and-Under Eastern Division
12 Mile House, defending champs, took up where they left off last year when they dropped Bill Buri L & D 4-2 behind Bill Shelves's five-hit pitching.

The PAL Captains blasted Plaza Furniture 14-2 as Wes Robinson went all the way pitching a two hitter and contributing a three run homer.

Final Eastern Loop action saw Starlite Hausfira down the PAL Inspectors 16-5 behind John Coluter's fine pitching effort.

13-And-Under Western Division
St. Vernicia's nipped the Winston Dukes 11-9 for an opening win in the Western Division. Mike Baldonado did an effective job of relief pitching and Dave DePucci had a pair of hits to spark the win.

Ed Green struck out seven and gave up five hits as he paced the Winston Dukes to a 15-2 win over the PAL Chiefs.

Final action for the day saw the PAL Sergeants take a 14-9 win from Kiwanis. The win will not count in the standings, however, since the Sergeants will play one more game than the other teams in the loop. The loss will count for Kiwanis.

MISRACKS IN 2ND PLACE

Sun Valley Dairy upset M & S Builders, 8-7, Sunday to tighten the pennant race in the Tri-City Midget League.

Steve Boone tripled to drive in the Dairy's tying run in the last of the seventh, and then scored the winning tally on Tom McGovern's squeeze.

Steve Murphy pitched six and two-thirds innings of four-hit ball to pace Sun Valley, while March Neal tripled and doubled to spark the hitting attack. Right fielder Steve Morillo made the defensive play of the day for Sun Valley when he threw out a runner at third base. Jerry Burke's three hits paced the Builders at the plate, while Bruce Brian's pitching and Steve Vawter's play in centerfield highlighted the defensive efforts.

Tom Owen and Bob Hilsenbager teamed up to pitch a three-hitter as Misrack's Sporting Goods dumped the Winston Seals, 13-1, and moved into a three-way tie for second place.

Owen pitched the first six innings, shutting out the Seals before Hilsenbager relieved him. Hilsenbager paced the Misrack's 18-hit attack with a trio of doubles in five trips to the plate. Mike Callero, Tom Evans and John Warren picked up the three Winston hits.

The San Bruno Merchants' Mike Rowley pitched six innings of shut-out ball to stop the PAL Detectives, 7-1. Rowley held the Detectives to three singles, while striking out nine.

The PAL Sergeants moved into the win column behind the six-hit pitching of Jerry Martinez, when they nipped the PAL Officers, 5-4, in a come-from-behind win. Steve Gibson homered in the sixth for the Sergeants, and Jack Yahares picked up three for four at the plate. John Couch's clutch single sent home the winning run.

It's SPARE TIME at Westlake Bowl

Three bowlers averaged better than 200 per game in the Peterson Point Trio last week as Dan Spisak shot a four game total of 828, John Bazzanella 811 and Jim McGuirk with 807.

Sun Valley Dairymen Tom Teshreia just missed the 600 mark as he led the Lake Merced League with a 210 game and 597 series. Another return to form was noted in the Westlake Knolls League as Irwin Penn shot a big 615 series on games of 224-180-211.

The Canco League made its debut at Westlake with M. Gibson leading the way on a 198 game and 586 series.

The Westlake Juniors invaded Stockton last weekend for the Northern California Junior Championships and left their marks in the standings. Bantams Lynn Noll and Lynda Cowan set the pace by taking over first place in the handicap doubles with 1054 and second place in the scratch doubles with 916. Lynda also held second place in the scratch singles with 509 and third place in the handicap singles with 530. Daly City policeman Rick Brewer made a great return to form in the Pro 540 Trio last week with an 859 series on games of 213-199-232 and 215 while Tony Santos hit an even 200 average on games of 190-205-203-202.

June 4 marks the starting date of the Monday Mixed Fours, a league designed for those bowling in a league for the first time. Many husbands and wives, other couples and individuals have registered with Primo. There are still openings for those interested.

Ted Braan and Louise Dewitt were the winners in the weekly Sunday No-Tap Sweepers. Ted's 828 total gave him first prize of $12, but the highlight of the evening was the fact that he made the first 300 game in Westlake's No-Tap history. Louise won $8 for her 768 series in the ladies' division. Both will be back next Sunday at 9 p. m. to participate in this weekly feature.

Skip Wong led the Westinghouse League, this time with a 234 game and 592 series. The Ladies Swiss Singles was won by Bonnie Birkett with 8 points and 669 pins for a prize of $15. Second, Nada Sylvester, 7 points, 569 pins, $9; third, Sis Draper, 4 points, 633 pins, $5; fourth, Glennis Glen, 3 points, 600 pins, $3.

Both league and social bowlers are taking advantage of the weekend instruction and practice periods to improve their scores. With coach Dick Truesdell on hand at 1 p. m. both Saturday and Sunday with his Brunswick "Learn to Bowl" program, he is available for consultation on individual problems.

Dave Egigian posted a powerful 654 scratch series to take first place in the Friday Jackpot Sweepstakes, giving him the $25 first prize. In the Jackpot Rolloff with defending champion Al Gordon, he was defeated three strikes to two as they bowled for the $315 jackpot. The jackpot next Friday is expected to be near $350.

H. Liebes will supply the fashions for the next YWCA fashion show and luncheon at 1 p. m. on June 7. This promises to be a sellout with the theme "Spring Into Summer" and advance reservations may be made by calling PL 6-7370.

The Southgate Mixes Fives continue to register some of the highest scores in league competition.

SOUTH SUNSET SETS REC LEAGUE PACE

South Sunset grabbed the spotlight in the American division of Daly City Junior baseball last week as they chalked up four victories to move into undisputed second place behind the undefeated Daly City Drags.

In the first game, they downed Parkmerced, 10-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Ed Santos, Johnson of South Sunset and Hogan of Parkmerced shared plate honors with two hits each.

In a return match on Saturday, the South Sunsets again prevailed, 11-7. Steve Lee performed the heroics as he twirled a nifty five-hitter at the Parkmerceders and rapped out three hits.

New Pisa also fell victim twice to the high-riding South Sunsets. They were blanked, 6-0, in the opener on Santos' one-hit shut-out. Brisbane and Gretton each garnered two hits to pace the attack.

In the second game, Santos struck out ten en route to a 7-4 win over the New Pisa nine. Lee, Johnson and Lewin provided the power at the plate. Lee is now batting .467 and has 11 RBIs to top the league.

In other American League action, Tim Herbert dazzled Silver Terrace batters with his no-hit pitching as Art Colvin BYA defeated them, 7-1. Unfortunately for Herbert, two walks and two errors spoiled his shut-out. Art Colvin batters collected six hits off Datto of Silver Terrace.

Parkmerced came from behind twice to take a 12-9 victory from Misracks Jr. Tommy Kervin scored four runs while hitting on two hits, walking twice and stealing three bases. Boston and Hunt contributed two for four, while Patterson of Misracks hit two for three.

Silver Terrace took revenge on Art Colvin BYA for their early week's defeat. Both teams split even with six hits each, but the Terrace boys were able to squeeze across two more runs. Shortstop Moore for the Terrace hit two for three but batting honors went to Herbert of Art Colvin with three for three.

Proposition 3 Clarification By Governor

(Editor's note: The following is an urgent statement, via telegram, from Gov. Edmund G. Brown.)

SACRAMENTO — Through an unfortunate oversight, the wording of Proposition 3 on the June 5 ballot inadequately describes this bond issue as $270,000,000 for building construction, equipment and site acquisition, needs of state government.

Actually, 80 per cent of these bonds are pledged to provide buildings and facilities urgently needed by the University of California, the California state colleges and the junior colleges if they are not to begin to turn away thousands of qualified students every year.

The remaining 20 per cent of the bonds will provide facilities for the populations of state hospitals, correctional institutes for youths and for construction of conservation camps.

In order that the electorate may have these complete facts before them when they vote on Proposition 3, the undersigned respectfully requests that you publish this statement in your newspaper before the June 5 election.

Thank you,
GOV. EDMUND G. BROWN.

"WHY?"

By Paris B. Simmons

Prior to discussing the roles played by school, home and community towards contributing to juvenile delinquency, a brief report on the achievements of interested citizens, as a result of this column, is in order.

More than 100 hours have been spent in telephone conversations with interested citizens as well as troubled parents and teenagers. In every case certain basic understandings of the complexity of the situation was reached, and in every case dealing with parents and teenagers, assistance has been given and positive results obtained.

Interested citizens are currently forming working committees to serve in many areas of need, according to their interest or qualifications. Many more individuals are needed to complete the committee so that they may be in full operation at the opening of school in September. Individuals wishing to volunteer need only to phone PL 5-4588 after 5 p.m., daily, and offer their services.

The following committees are organized, or in the process of organization. Every committee is able to use additional personnel, and will welcome anyone desiring to help.

Consulting Committee—Individuals comprise this committee of a wide variety of backgrounds dealing with juveniles. They act as consultants to the committees, speakers for civic groups, as well as advisors in particularly difficult situations. At present, this committee includes members of the clergy, education, police, parents, civic leaders, psychologists and sociologists. It is hoped other specialists will add their leadership and ability to this committee.

Youth Service Committee—This committee is composed of successful parent teams that work with teenagers having problems. At the present time, there is one parent team in successful operation, and it is hoped that others may be formed as the need arises. Because of the confidential nature of their service, parent teams will remain unnamed to the general public, but their service is available to all teenagers.

Parent Guidance Committee—This committee is working with parents having difficulty with teenagers, but unable to cope with their problem. Every attempt is made by this committee to strengthen the position of the parent. It is a very challenging committee, with an excellent chairman, which should provide a great deal of satisfaction in its accomplishments.

Resource Committee—Working towards gathering information on juvenile delinquency which will be of value to the community. This committee is also responsible for carrying on activities of sharing information between communities throughout California.

Speaker Bureau—Staff consultants and committee chairmen compose this special committee. The purpose being to present programs, lead study groups and assist organizations

Double Sessions For Pacifica School Kids

Most school children in the Pedro Valley of Pacifica will be placed on double sessions at the beginning of the fall term in September, but the double sessions may end when the new Ortega school is completed near the end of the year.

Robert T. Hale, board chairman, and Superintendent Frederick E. Lucas pointed out that all churches in the area have been surveyed, the local real estate board has been contacted and an investigation made of the possibility of renting trailers or portable classrooms.

None of these proposals would have solved the problem without a great deal of extra expense, they said. Before adoption of the emergency plan, the school board had been faced with the problem of housing 22 classrooms for which there were no facilities.

Ben Franklin Inaugurates Physical Fitness Program

The Benjamin Franklin physical fitness program has four levels of fitness, with each designated by a color. Assignment to a color group is based on straight-forward objective fitness tests. The beginning level is designated as white, the second as blue, third red, and the highest as gold.

The tests for fitness are: Pull-ups, sit-ups, push-ups, burpees, frog stand, man-carry, triple standing broad jump and 800 yard run for eighth graders, 600 yard run for seventh graders.

The boys are given a fitness workout two or three days per week in their physical education classes. Every six weeks the boys are tested to determine their particular fitness achievement to date. The exercises are designed to develop a boy's muscular strength, flexibility, ability, balance, coordination and circulation. After the first series of tests, the following boys have reached the following color groups:

Blue: C. Gibson, M. Torres, L. Baker, S. Ross, D. Blondell, S. Lewis, K. Stetler, N. Cipriano, L. Karp, M. Kunich, L. Miller, K. Liss, T. Herbert, M. Nielson, R. Adamson, H. Bobrow, H. Decker, J. Campbell, V. Vanderbur, R. Stuart, J. Weiner, C. Hoover, C. Morgan, D. Blaney, D. Williams, P. Anderson, D. Lippi, M. Cooper, D. Kelly, G. Moore, J. Dunn, R. Baird and M. Caserta.

Red: R. Giorgetti, R. Broner, C. Castro, M. McPherson, R. Baumgardner, S. Hudgens, R. Smith, M. Osborne, R. Proia, K. Fleischauer, R. Simonovich, L. Williams, Tom Weigand, E. Wittaschek and R. McPherson.

Gold: Bill Mason, Mitchell Quistgard and Bruce Herald.

The next physical fitness tests will be during the week of June.

Thomas Edison School

Mrs. Kent's sixth grade class at Thomas Edison extended its studies of the circulatory system by inviting Dr. Lobel to lecture and demonstrate the nature of the heart and cardiovascular system.

To illustrate the complexity of this organ, two cow hearts were dissected, making this close-range observation vividly memorable. Student response was unanimously enthusiastic.

Dr. Lobel was secured by Mrs. Kent through the San Mateo Heart Association.

Mrs. Kazakoff's and Mrs. Katsaros' third graders were also rewarded when Dr. Horan, in connection with their study of the human eye, dissected an eye for the combined classes.

Mrs. Ethel Kazakoff, Thomas Edison Junior Red Cross chairman, received a Thank-U-Gram from Mrs. Andrew Bayler of the San Mateo regional Junior Red Cross for contributions of money and gifts donated by the student body. The school as a whole participated. Placemats were made by Mrs. Liu's and Mrs. Kazakoff's third graders and Mrs. Nyhan's second grade class. Mrs. Katsaros' third grade students prepared Hogan bags for the Navajo Indian children.

Letters of recognition were also received by Mrs. Burchard's fourth graders from Dwight L. Newton of the Examiner Schoolcast program.

Mr. Newton acknowledged Scott Swan's request for a special program concerning the geography of Russia by presenting it on the air. These fourth graders have expanded their knowledge of current events by listening to these schoolcast programs regularly and keeping notebooks.

In connection with a geographical study of the United States, Miss Johnson's fifth grade class has been busy writing to and receiving information from chambers of commerce in various cities throughout the country. They have also received pamphlets and information from key industries located in these areas under study.

CAST IRONS
Small amounts of nickel are frequently used in engineering cast irons to improve their machinability and foundry characteristics.

Olympia School

Miss Cottrell's second graders visited the Golden State-Forest Dairy in San Francisco on May 15th. This is the home delivery service and ice cream plant.

John Masagli took the children on a tour through the dairy. The children saw the homogenizing and pasteurizing machines, and learned how these processes are performed. They watched the ice cream bars being prepared for delivery, and enjoyed the bars given to them by the dairy. The children saw the bottle washing machine and were impressed with the fact that a human hand does not touch any of the products.

Mrs. Muller and Mrs. Feldman accompanied the children on the trip.

As a culmination to several social studies units, Room 5 and Room 1 of Olympia School visited the San Mateo Jr. Museum and the San Mateo Historical Museum on May 22. The children saw many interesting things to reinforce their learning.

At the Jr. Museum they viewed a number of desert animals and reptiles, some of them new to the collection at the Museum. The guides told the children how the reptiles were caught during Easter week in Death Valley. The glossy snake was of particular interest for it felt and looked like patent leather. Another live reptile was the iguana lizard.

Among the live specimens seen were a skunk, two porcupines, a coyote, a red-tailed hawk, a raccoon, an owl, a deer, rabbits, and mice. The live reptiles included a chuckawalla lizard, horned lizards, and many snakes. The children also saw many stuffed animals such as the badger, fox, lynx, coyote, buffalo head, and horned ram. The group also saw film slides about the desert, showing erosion and desert life.

At the Historical Museum the group was conducted through the various periods of San Mateo County history beginning with the Indians, Spanish and early Americans. Each period is vividly portrayed with dioramas, realia, artifacts, photographs, maps, and documents. The children were particularly interested in the way of living during the early American period.

Mrs. Fred Waterhouse and Mrs. Paul Lichtman accompanied the classes of Mrs. B. Busetto and Mrs. F. Lamp.

Class Visits Bakery

On Wednesday, May 16, Mrs. Llenore Hill's first and second grade class at Jefferson Elementary school visited the New Geneva Bakery at 29 San Pedro Road in Colma.

The class walked to the bakery accompanied by Mrs. Hill and Miss Josephine Toranzo, a student observer. While at the bakery, the children viewed the cake baking, cake decorating and batter mixing.

They saw the ovens, the weighing scales and ice boxes. When asked what they enjoyed most, the class agreed that it was the cookies that the children were given. Mrs. Hill's class wrote individual letters of thanks to the staff at the New Geneva Bakery.

QUEEN CLAUDIA with attendants after the May festival crowning at Colma K-6 school.

Colma K-6 Has May Festival

The Colma K-6 School recently celebrated the spring season with a Folk Dance Festival and the crowning of the May Queen. The lovely queen, seated in front of a fresh flower background, was Claudia Davi, first grade pupil.

Queen Claudia's lovely princesses were Janet Vollers, Carole Lindsey, Janice Jardin, Janis Aiello, Robin Dalieden, Paulette Cuneo and Jackie Jardin.

Johnny Moura, kindergarten pupil, was the crown bearer. He carried the fresh flower crown on a satin pillow while regally dressed in a purple and gold satin cape.

Queen Claudia was officially crowned by Richard L. Foster, superintendent of schools. After the crowning, Queen Claudia bowed and waved the eager dancers to "let the dance begin!" Janet Noya, student council president, proceeded with the announcement and introduction of each dance.

All grades and all children bowed to Queen Claudia and delighted the audience with their dances in gayly decorated costumes.

The audience of approximately 300 applauded and admired the queen and her court and the variety of dances presented by the students.

M. P. Brown PTA Installs New Officers

With official additions to its by-laws, the M. Pauline Brown PTA elected and installed two new officers Thursday evening to serve the unit during the 1962-63 year.

Mrs. Don Aron and Mrs. Walter Kaplan were chosen to fill, respectively, the newly-created posts of corresponding secretary and financial secretary.

Installing the duo was Donald Pagani, the school's principal. The event highlighted the unit's closing meeting of the 1961-62 charter term. Also on the agenda was a discussion of children's leisure time activities and the reading of the year's history, in which all charter officers and chairmen participated. Mrs. Richard Kamprath, historian, directed the report, during which flowers were placed to form a perpetual charter-year memorial bouquet.

Six of the new unit's members were awarded California Congress of Parents and Teachers certificates signifying the completion of a five-session PTA information course. They were Mrs. Robert Herring, Mrs. Norman Gotelli, Mrs. George Buell, Mrs. Don Aron, Mrs. Kenneth Gillespie and Mr. Pagani.

Presented to the unit were 17th District, CCPT, awards for publicity book merit, one of 15 awarded throughout the San Mateo county-wide district, and a certificate attesting to the fulfillment of certain PTA goals.

In addition to the by-law changes, the unit voted to contribute 100 to the Jefferson Elementary School District for the purchase of approved instructional aids in the M. Pauline Brown School and to participate in a summer theater program.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Gillespie, charter president, praised and thanked those who had served on Brown's initial executive board, introduced the president-elect, Mrs. Buell, and presented her with the unit gavel.

Serving with Mrs. Buell will be Mrs. Gotelli, vice president; Mrs. Herring, recording secretary; Mrs. Aron, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Kaplan, financial secretary; Mrs. Ellis Wiard,

Westlake School

Missiles and a harbor tour rounded out the closing unit activities of Westlake School students as several classes enjoyed their final study trips of the year.

The Westlake Nike facility was the site of an hour-long inspection and discussion by students from Dorothy Campbell's special training class and Armand Kerin's fifth graders. The students listened intently as military guides went through the steps in tracing the construction and operation of the Nike missile as a potential defense weapon. Terms such as "Mach 2," "magnesium metals," "telemetric devices," "oxidizing fuels," were among the numerous descriptions used to illustrate the character of the missile and its components.

The third graders from Elizabeth Johnson's and Margaret Beber's classes culminated their study of the Bay Area with an exciting tour of the harbor aboard the "Harbor Princess."

The youngsters were in awe at the splendor and beauty of the San Francisco skyline and the views of the Golden Gate and Bay Bridges. And as true cosmopolitans, they agreed, "This was the best study trip ever."

Accompanying the third graders on their last trip of the year were: Mrs. Charles Becker, Mrs. Charles Buron, Mrs. Alvin Steinfeld, Mrs. Robert MacDougall, and Mrs. Herbert Krall. Mr. Kerin's fifth graders were accompanied by Mrs. John Davis.

Dr. Blood Appointed Guidance Director Of School District

The Jefferson High School board of trustees has appointed Dr. Kenneth Blood, psychologist for the school district the past two years, to the position of district director of guidance.

Dr. Blood will begin his duties Sept. 1. The newly created office will replace the psychologist position. The new position was created because of the expansion of the district. Dr. Blood will work out a guidance program for all four high schools, developing training programs and working with the counselors at each high school. Previously, Dr. Blood did individual and group therapy.

The estimated per capita consumption of distilled spirits in the United States in 1961 was 1.3 gallons.

Pen. Art Association Show At Pacifica

Senior Girl Scouts Are Library Aides

"With all the hue and cry about troublesome teens, we are apt to overlook the many wonderful unassuming ones we see every day," said Miss Rose Marie Kraus, Children's Librarian of the Daly City Public Libraries.

Among those quiet youngsters of Daly City are a group of Senior Girl Scouts who have been working as Library Aides since last December. Margaret Mori and Sandy Sorenson have planned and executed several charming bulletin boards in the children's section. Kay Wisler and Kathy Proctor have checked several subject booklists through the card catalog to determine the library's holdings.

Susan Ecker and Rosalie Castano have filed catalog cards, hunted book review issues of magazines. All of the girls have done these and other useful, often tiresome but necessary jobs backstage.

When they have finished thirty hours of volunteer work, they will receive recognition from the Girl Scouts with a Library Aide Badge. The girls will have a better idea of the many and varied jobs which must be done to provide the public with library service, of the demands of interested and intelligent volunteer service, and the Children's Librarian will miss the cheerful help of Mrs. Mori's Troop No. 24.
